COUNT I: INFRINGEMENT OF U.S. PATENT NO. 6,473,858

33. ARRIS hereby restates and re-alleges the allegations set forth in paragraphs 1 through 32 above as if fully set forth herein.

34. The '858 patent generally relates to the field of digital communication transmission with privacy and access control features. In one exemplary embodiment of the invention, the '858

1 patent describes “a receiver constructed to receive the digital broadcast signal,” wherein the receiver
2 decrypts and distributes the data in multicast IP form on a LAN to client systems. See, e.g., '858
3 patent at 4:6-27.

4 35. Sony infringes one or more claims of the '858 patent, either literally or under the
5 doctrine of equivalents, including at least claims 29, 33-39, and 42-43. Sony makes, uses, sells,
6 offers to sell, and/or imports into the United States the Accused Sony Android TVs, Accused Sony
7 PlayStations, and Accused Sony Blu-Ray/DVD players, which meet each and every limitation of at 8 least claims 29, 33-39, and 42-43 of the '858 patent, without ARRIS's license or authority. Non-
9 limiting examples of such infringement are provided below, based on the limited information
10 currently available to ARRIS.

11 36. On information and belief, the Accused Sony Android TVs, Accused Sony
12 PlayStations, and Accused Sony Blu-Ray/DVD players satisfy each and every limitation of at least 13 claims 29, 33-39, and 42-43. An exemplary claim chart applying claim 29 of the '858 patent to an 14 exemplary Accused Sony Android TV (filed with the International Trade Commission substantially 15 concurrently with this Complaint), attached hereto as Exhibit F and expressly incorporated by 16 reference in its entirety herein, further shows how the Accused Sony Android TVs infringe claim 17 29.

18 37. As an additional example, an exemplary claim chart applying claim 29 of the '858
19 patent to an exemplary Accused Sony PlayStation (filed with the International Trade Commission 20 substantially concurrently with this Complaint), attached hereto as Exhibit G and expressly
21 incorporated by reference in its entirety herein, further shows how the Accused Sony PlayStations
22 infringe claim 29.

23 38. As an additional example, an exemplary claim chart applying claim 29 of the '858
24 patent to an exemplary Accused Sony DVD/Blu-Ray Player (filed with the International Trade 25 Commission substantially concurrently with this Complaint), attached hereto as Exhibit H and 26 expressly incorporated by reference in its entirety herein, further shows how the Accused Sony
27 DVD/Blu-Ray Players infringe claim 29.

28

1 39. In view of the foregoing, the Accused Sony Android TVs (such as, e.g.,
 2 XBR43X800D), Accused Sony PlayStation 4s (such as, e.g., PlayStation 4 Slim and PS4 Pro
 3 models), and Accused Sony Blu-Ray/DVD players (such as, e.g., UBP-X800 and BDP-S7200)
 4 infringe the '858 patent both directly and indirectly. The Accused Sony Android TVs, Accused
 5 Sony PlayStations, and Accused Sony Blu-Ray/DVD players directly infringe at least claims 29, 33-6 39, and 42-43 of the '858 patent.

7 40. The Accused Sony Android TVs, Accused Sony PlayStations, and Accused Sony
 8 Blu-Ray/DVD players indirectly infringe at least claims 29, 33-39, and 42-43 of the '858 patent,
 9 because Sony's manufacture, use, sale, offer for sale, and/or importation into the United States
 10 actively induces infringement within the United States. For example, Sony encourages, facilitates,
 11 instructs, aids and/or abets its customers and/or end users to use one or more of the Accused Sony
 12 Android TVs, Accused Sony PlayStations, and/or Accused Sony Blu-Ray/DVD players in an 13 infringing manner. Sony's active inducement of infringement of at least claims 29, 33-39, and 42-14 43 of the '858 patent includes, e.g., actively and knowingly aiding and abetting persons and/or 15 entities (including Sony's customers and/or end-users) through activities such as marketing the 16 Accused Products and/or creating and/or distributing instruction materials on the use of Accused
 17 Products, with the specific intent to induce others to use, sell, offer for sale the Accused Products
 18 for use with Sony's PlayStation Vue service and/or a Netflix application. For example, Sony's
 19 marketing literature touts the benefits of using Sony's Accused Products to access PlayStation Vue
 20 and/or a Netflix application, and such use falls within the scope of at least claims 29, 33-39, and 42-21 43 of the '858 patent.

22 41. The Accused Sony Android TVs, Accused Sony PlayStations, and Accused Sony
 23 Blu-Ray/DVD players also infringe at least claims 29, 33-39, and 42-43 of the '858 patent
 24 contributorily, because they are especially made or especially adapted for infringement thereof, and
 25 are not staple articles or commodities of commerce suitable for noninfringing use.

26 42. On information and belief, the '858 patent was brought to Sony's attention during 27 prosecution of Sony's own patents (U.S. Patent Nos. 9,446,305 and 9,420,283; U.S. Application 28

1 No. US20090119379). Sony has continued its infringement of the '858 patent with full knowledge
 2 of that infringement.

3 43. Alternatively, Sony has knowledge of the '858 patent at least as of filing and/or 4 service of this complaint. Since at least as early as the filing and/or service of this complaint,
 5 Sony's infringement has been willful.

6 44. Despite Sony's knowledge of and notice of the '858 patent and its ongoing
 7 infringement, Sony continues to manufacture, use, sell, offer for sale, and/or import the Accused
 8 Sony Android TVs, Accused Sony PlayStations, and Accused Sony Blu-Ray/DVD players in a 9 manner that infringes the '858 patent, and continues to produce and disseminate promotional and
 10 marketing materials, supporting materials, instructions, and/or technical information related to the 11 infringing aspects of the Accused Sony Android TVs, Accused Sony PlayStations, and Accused 12 Sony Blu-Ray/DVD players. Sony lacks a justifiable belief that it does not infringe the '858 patent, 13 or that the '858 patent is invalid, and has acted recklessly in its infringing activity, justifying an 14 increase in the damages to be awarded ARRIS up to three times the amount found or assessed, in 15 accordance with 35 U.S.C. § 284.

16 45. At least Sony's willful infringement of the '858 patent renders this case an 17 exceptional case, justifying an award to ARRIS of its reasonable attorneys' fees, in accordance with 18 35 U.S.C. § 285.

19 46. ARRIS has no adequate remedy at law for Sony's acts of infringement. As a direct
 20 and proximate result of Sony's acts of infringement, ARRIS has suffered and continues to suffer
 21 damages and irreparable harm. Unless Sony's acts of infringement are enjoined by this Court,
 22 ARRIS will continue to be damaged and irreparably harmed.

23 COUNT II: INFRINGEMENT OF U.S. PATENT NO. 6,934,148

24 47. ARRIS hereby restates and re-alleges the allegations set forth in paragraphs 1 25 through 46 above as if fully set forth herein.

26 48. The '148 patent generally relates to cooling systems for electronics chassis and 27 housings. See, e.g., '148 patent at 2:7-17. In one exemplary embodiment of the invention, the '148
 28 patent describes the path of intake air flowing into the chassis, and how baffle placement can cause

1 the intake air to progress along a non-linear horizontal path on its way to the centrifugal blower.

2 See, e.g., '148 patent at 3:25-47.

3 49. Sony infringes one or more claims of the '148 patent, either literally or under the 4 doctrine of equivalents, including at least claims 1, 2, and 4. Sony makes, uses, sells, offers to sell,
 5 and/or imports into the United States the Sony PlayStation 4 (slim), which meets each and every
 6 limitation of at least claims 1, 2, and 4 of the '148 patent, without ARRIS's license or authority.
 7 Non-limiting examples of such infringement are provided below, based on the information currently
 8 available to ARRIS.

9 50. On information and belief, Sony's PlayStation 4 (slim) satisfies each and every 10 limitation of at least claims 1, 2, and 4. An exemplary claim chart applying claim 1 of the '148
 11 patent to Sony's PlayStation 4 (slim) product (filed with the International Trade Commission 12 substantially concurrently with this Complaint), attached hereto as Exhibit I and expressly
 13 incorporated by reference in its entirety herein, further shows how the Accused Sony PlayStation 4
 14 (slim) infringes claim 1.

15 51. In view of the foregoing, Sony directly infringes at least claims 1, 2, and 4 of the 16 '148 patent by making, using, selling, offering for sale, and importing into the United States
 17 Accused Sony PlayStations, such as, e.g., the Sony PlayStation 4 (slim).

18 52. Sony has knowledge of the '148 patent at least as of filing and/or service of the
 19 complaint. Since at least as early as the filing and/or service of this complaint, Sony's infringement
 20 has been willful.

21 53. Despite Sony's knowledge of and notice of the '148 patent and its ongoing
 22 infringement, Sony continues to manufacture, use, sell, offer for sale, and/or import Accused Sony
 23 PlayStation 4 (slim) products. Sony lacks a justifiable belief that it does not infringe the '148
 24 patent, or that the '148 patent is invalid, and has acted recklessly in its infringing activity, justifying
 25 an increase in the damages to be awarded ARRIS up to three times the amount found or assessed, in 26 accordance with 35 U.S.C. § 284.

54. At least Sony's willful infringement of the '148 patent renders this an exceptional case, justifying an award to ARRIS of its reasonable attorneys' fees, in accordance with 35 U.S.C. § 285.

55. ARRIS has no adequate remedy at law for Sony's acts of infringement. As a direct and proximate result of Sony's acts of infringement, ARRIS has suffered and continues to suffer damages and irreparable harm. Unless Sony's acts of infringement are enjoined by this Court, ARRIS will continue to be damaged and irreparably harmed.

COUNT III: INFRINGEMENT OF U.S. PATENT NO. 6,994,880

56. ARRIS hereby restates and re-alleges the allegations set forth in paragraphs 1 through 55 above as if fully set forth herein.

57. The '880 patent generally relates to methods for audio capture and transmission during television broadcasts, using a remote control with an integrated microphone and/or a set-top box for receiving audio information.

58. Sony infringes one or more claims of the '880 patent, either literally or under the doctrine of equivalents, including at least claims 1. Sony makes, uses, sells, offers to sell, and/or imports into the United States the Accused Sony PlayStations, which meet each and every limitation of at least claim 1, without ARRIS's license or authority. Non-limiting examples of such infringement are provided below, based on the information currently available to ARRIS.

59. Claim 1 of the '880 patent recites as follows:

1. A method for audio capture and communication comprising:

generating an audio signal using a microphone integrated with a remote control for an interactive television system;

transmitting the audio signal using a wireless transmitter integrated with the remote control;

receiving the audio signal at a wireless receiver integrated with a first set top box for the interactive television system;

recording the audio signal in a digital format within the first set top box; transmitting the recorded audio signal from the first set top box over a network to a second set top box; and storing the audio signal within the second set top box device with other stored audio signals for later selective playback by a user.

60. The Accused Sony PlayStations satisfy each and every limitation of at least Claim 1. The Accused Sony PlayStations includes a voice chat mechanism for recording and sending voice recordings to other users.

61. The Accused PlayStations enable generating an audio signal using a microphone integrated with a remote control for an interactive television system. For example, the Accused Sony PlayStations are configured to be connected to a television and allow users to play games online in an interactive environment and/or use the PlayStation Vue service, comprising an interactive television system operable to receive input and provide interactive output to the users. The remote controller for the PlayStation 4 set-top box comes with an earpiece and microphone operable to be integrated with the remote controller and the combination being able to generate an audio signal responsive to user voice input.

62. The Accused Sony PlayStations enable transmitting the audio signal using a wireless transmitter integrated with the remote control. For example, Sony describes the PlayStation 4 remote control as a “DualShock®4 Wireless Controller”: “The DualShock®4 Wireless Controller for PlayStation®4 defines the next generation of play, combining revolutionary new features with intuitive, precision controls.” See <https://www.playstation.com/en-us/explore/accessories/dualshock-4-wireless-controller-ps4/>. No wires connect the PlayStation 4 remote control to the PlayStation 4 set-top box, Sony’s product information discloses that there is a wireless transmitter present in the remote control, and on information and belief the remote control use the wireless transmitter to transmit the audio signal captured with the integrated microphone to the PlayStation 4 set-top box.

63. The Accused Sony PlayStations enable receiving the audio signal at a wireless receiver integrated with a first set-top box for the interactive television system. For example, the Accused Sony PlayStations generate a display on a connected television to indicate that a wireless voice message has been received at the set-top box.

1 64. The Accused Sony PlayStations enable recording the audio signal in a digital format
 2 within the first set-top box. For example, the Accused Sony PlayStations records the audio signal in 3 a digital format and after the message is sent the recorded audio information remains available in 4 both volatile and nonvolatile digital storage.

5 65. The Accused Sony PlayStations enable transmitting the recorded audio signal from 6 the first set-top box over a network to a second set-top box. For example, a user using a PlayStation
 7 connected to a wireless network can communicate with other PlayStation users by sending the 8 recorded audio via the PlayStation Network servers.

9 66. The Accused Sony PlayStations enable storing the audio signal within the second 10 set-top box device with other stored audio signals for later selective playback by a user. For 11 example, the Accused Sony PlayStations can receive a “Wireless Voice Message” sent from another 12 PlayStation user and store the message. Moreover, when the internet connection is turned off in the 13 Accused Sony PlayStation’s settings, the audio message is still available to the user, demonstrating 14 that the audio message is stored in the Accused Sony PlayStation, either in non-volatile memory or 15 volatile memory.

16 67. In view of the foregoing, Sony directly infringes at least claim 1 of the ’880 patent 17 by making, using, selling, offering for sale, and/or importing into the United States the Accused 18 Sony PlayStations.

19 68. The Accused Sony PlayStations indirectly infringe at least claim 1 of the ’880 patent,
 20 because Sony’s manufacture, use, sale, offer for sale, and/or importation into the United States
 21 actively induces infringement within the United States. For example, Sony encourages, facilitates,
 22 instructs, aids and/or abets its customers and/or end users to use one or more of the Accused Sony
 23 PlayStations in an infringing manner. Sony’s active inducement of infringement of at least claim 1, 24 e.g., actively and knowingly aiding and abetting persons and/or entities (including Sony’s customers 25 and/or end-users) through activities such as marketing the Accused Sony PlayStations and/or 26 creating and/or distributing instruction materials on the use of the Accused Sony PlayStations, with 27 the specific intent to induce others to use the Accused Sony PlayStations in an infringing manner.

28

69. The Accused Sony PlayStations also infringe at least claim 1 of the '880 patent contributorily, because they are especially made or especially adapted for infringement thereof, and are not staple articles or commodities of commerce suitable for noninfringing use.

70. Sony has knowledge of the '880 patent at least as of filing and/or service of the complaint. Since at least as early as the filing and/or service of this complaint, Sony's infringement has been willful.

71. Despite Sony's knowledge of and notice of the '880 patent and its ongoing infringement, Sony continues to manufacture, use, sell, offer for sale, and/or import Accused Sony PlayStations. Sony lacks a justifiable belief that it does not infringe the '880 patent, or that the '880 patent is invalid, and has acted recklessly in its infringing activity, justifying an increase in the damages to be awarded ARRIS up to three times the amount found or assessed, in accordance with 35 U.S.C. § 284.

72. At least Sony's willful infringement of the '880 patent renders this an exceptional case, justifying an award to ARRIS of its reasonable attorneys' fees, in accordance with 35 U.S.C. § 285.

73. ARRIS has no adequate remedy at law for Sony's acts of infringement. As a direct and proximate result of Sony's acts of infringement, ARRIS has suffered and continues to suffer damages and irreparable harm. Unless Sony's acts of infringement are enjoined by this Court, ARRIS will continue to be damaged and irreparably harmed.

COUNT IV: INFRINGEMENT OF U.S. PATENT NO. 7,752,564

74. ARRIS hereby restates and re-alleges the allegations set forth in paragraphs 1 through 73 above as if fully set forth herein.

75. The '564 patent generally relates to a graphical user interface (“GUI”) that provides for navigation of visual cards using filters. In an exemplary embodiment, the GUI provides one or more filters on a first axis for filtering sequences of visual cards, where the filters may represent, for example, option types or category. In an exemplary embodiment, a user may select a particular filter to display a set of cards, from a particular category, along a second, perpendicular access, and

1 the user may alternatively select a different filter to display a different set of cards, from a different
 2 category, along the second axis.

3 76. Sony infringes one or more claims of the '564 patent, either literally or under the 4 doctrine of equivalents, including at least claims 1-6 and 8-22. Sony makes, uses, sells, offers to 5 sell, and/or imports into the United States the Accused Sony TVs, which meet each and every
 6 limitation of at least claims 1-6 and 8-22 of the '564 patent, without ARRIS's license or authority.
 7 Non-limiting examples of such infringement are provided below, based on the information currently
 8 available to ARRIS.

9 77. On information and belief, the Accused Sony TVs satisfy each and every limitation
 10 of at least claims 1-6 and 8-22. An exemplary claim chart applying claim 1, 12, and 22 of the '564
 11 patent to an exemplary Accused Sony TV (filed with the International Trade Commission 12 substantially concurrently with this Complaint), attached hereto as Exhibit J and expressly
 13 incorporated by reference in its entirety herein, further shows how the Accused Sony TVs infringes 14 claims 1, 12, and 22.

15 78. In view of the foregoing, Sony directly infringes at least claims 1- 6 and 8-22 of the 16 '564 patent by making, using, selling, offering for sale, and/or importing into the United States the 17 Accused Sony TVs (such as, e.g., XBR43X800D).

18 79. The Accused Sony TVs indirectly infringe at least claims 1–6 and 8–22 of the '564
 19 patent, because Sony's manufacture, use, sale, offer for sale, and/or importation into the United 20 States actively induces the infringement by others, e.g., Sony's customers and/or end users. For 21 example, Sony encourages, facilitates, instructs, aids and/or abets its customers and/or end users to 22 use one or more of the Accused Sony TVs in an infringing manner. Sony's active inducement of 23 infringement of at least claims 1–6 and 8–22 of the '564 patent includes, e.g., actively and 24 knowingly aiding and abetting persons and/or entities (including Sony's customers and/or end-25 users) through activities such as marketing the Accused Sony TVs with the specific intent to induce 26 others to use the claimed systems and methods within the United States. For example, Sony's 27 marketing material touts the benefits of using the Accused Sony TVs' graphical user interface, and 28 such use falls within the scope of at least claim 1–6 and 8–22 of the '564 patent

80. The Accused Sony TVs also infringe at least claim 1–6 and 8–22 of the '564 patent contributorily, because they are especially made or especially adapted for infringement thereof, and are not staple articles or commodities of commerce suitable for noninfringing use.

81. Sony has knowledge of the '564 patent at least as of filing and/or service of this complaint. Since at least as early as the filing and/or service of this complaint, Sony's infringement has been willful.

82. Despite Sony's knowledge of and notice of the '564 patent and its ongoing infringement, Sony has continued to manufacture, use, sell, offer for sale, and/or import the Accused Sony TVs in a manner that infringes the '564 patent, and continues to produce and disseminate promotional and marketing materials, supporting materials, instructions, and/or technical information related to the infringing aspects of the Accused Sony TVs. Sony lacks a justifiable belief that it does not infringe the '564 patent, or that the '564 patent is invalid, and has acted recklessly in its infringing activity, justifying an increase in the damages to be awarded ARRIS up to three times the amount found or assessed, in accordance with 35 U.S.C. § 284.

83. At least Sony's willful infringement of the '564 patent renders this an exceptional case, justifying an award to ARRIS of its reasonable attorneys' fees, in accordance with 35 U.S.C. § 285.

84. ARRIS has no adequate remedy at law for Sony's acts of infringement. As a direct and proximate result of Sony's acts of infringement, ARRIS has suffered and continues to suffer damages and irreparable harm. Unless Sony's acts of infringement are enjoined by this Court, ARRIS will continue to be damaged and irreparably harmed.

COUNT V: INFRINGEMENT OF U.S. PATENT NO. 9,521,466

85. ARRIS hereby restates and re-alleges the allegations set forth in paragraphs 1 through 84 above as if fully set forth herein.

86. The '466 patent generally describes methods and apparatuses for conserving resources associated with delivery of television content over a packet network. In one exemplary embodiment of the invention, resources are conserved by halting the delivery of television content, when it is determined that the viewer is no longer watching.

1 87. Sony infringes one or more claims of the '466 patent, either literally or under the
 2 doctrine of equivalents, including at least claims 1-5, 7-8, 12, and 15-17. Sony makes, uses, sells,
 3 offers to sell, and/or imports into the United States the Accused Sony Android TVs, Accused Sony
 4 PlayStations, and Accused Sony Blu-Ray/DVD players, which meet each and every limitation of at
 5 least claims 1-5, 7-8, 12, and 15-17 of the '466 patent, without ARRIS's license or authority. Non-
 6 limiting examples of such infringement are provided below, based on the information currently
 7 available to ARRIS.

8 88. The Accused Sony Android TVs, Accused Sony PlayStations, and Accused Sony
 9 Blu-Ray/DVD players satisfy each and every limitation of at least claims 1-5, 7-8, 12, and 15-17.
 10 An exemplary claim chart applying claims 1 and 15 of the '466 patent to the Accused Sony Android
 11 TVs (filed with the International Trade Commission substantially concurrently with this 12 Complaint), attached hereto as Exhibit K and expressly incorporated by reference in its entirety
 13 herein, further shows how the Accused Sony Android TVs infringes claims 1 and 15.

14 89. By way of further example, an exemplary claim chart applying claims 1 and 15 of 15 the '466 patent to the Accused Sony PlayStations, filed with the International Trade Commission
 16 substantially concurrently with this Complaint, is attached hereto as Exhibit L and expressly
 17 incorporated by reference in its entirety herein, further shows how the Accused Sony PlayStations
 18 infringe claims 1 and 15.

19 90. By way of further example, an exemplary claim chart applying claims 1 and 15 of 20 the '466 patent to the Accused Sony DVD/Blu-Ray players (filed with the International Trade 21 Commission substantially concurrently with this Complaint), attached hereto as Exhibit M and
 22 expressly incorporated by reference in its entirety herein, further shows how the Accused Sony
 23 DVD/Blu-Ray infringe claims 1 and 15.

24 91. In view of the foregoing, the Accused Sony Android TVs, Accused Sony
 25 PlayStations, and Accused Sony Blu-Ray/DVD players infringe the '466 patent both directly and 26 indirectly. The Accused Sony Android TVs, Accused Sony PlayStations, and Accused Sony Blu-
 27 Ray/DVD players directly infringe at least claims 1-5, 7-8, 12, and 15-17 of the '466 patent.

28

1 92. The Accused Sony Android TVs, Accused Sony PlayStations, and Accused Sony
 2 Blu-Ray/DVD players indirectly infringe at least claims 1-5, 7-8, 12, and 15-17 of the '466 patent,
 3 because Sony's manufacture, use, sale, offer for sale, and/or importation into the United States
 4 actively induces infringement within the United States. For example, Sony encourages, facilitates,
 5 instructs, aids and/or abets its customers and/or end users to use one or more of the Accused Sony
 6 Android TVs, Accused Sony PlayStations, and Accused Sony Blu-Ray/DVD players with Sony's
 7 PlayStation Vue service and/or a Netflix application in a manner that causes direct infringement.
 8 Sony's active inducement of infringement of at least claims 1-5, 7-8, 12, and 15-17 of the '466
 9 patent includes, e.g., actively and knowingly aiding and abetting persons and/or entities (including 10 customers, end-users, service providers, distributors, and/or resellers) through activities such as 11 marketing the Accused Products and/or creating and/or distributing instruction materials on the use
 12 of the Accused Sony Android TVs, Accused Sony PlayStations, and Accused Sony Blu-Ray/DVD
 13 players, with the specific intent to induce others to use, sell, offer for sale the Accused Sony
 14 Android TVs, Accused Sony PlayStations, and Accused Sony Blu-Ray/DVD players for use with 15 Sony's PlayStation Vue service and/or a Netflix application. For example, Sony's marketing
 16 literature touts the benefits of using the Accused Sony Android TVs, Accused Sony PlayStations, 17 and Accused Sony Blu-Ray/DVD players with the PlayStation Vue and/or a Netflix application, and 18 such use falls within the scope of at least claims 1-5, 7-8, 12, and 15-17 of the '466 patent.

19 93. The Accused Sony Android TVs, Accused Sony PlayStations, and Accused Sony
 20 Blu-Ray/DVD players also infringe at least claims 1-5, 7-8, 12, and 15-17 of the '466 patent
 21 contributorily, because they are especially made or especially adapted for infringement thereof, and
 22 are not staple articles or commodities of commerce suitable for noninfringing use.

23 94. Sony has knowledge of the '466 patent at least as of filing and/or service of the 24 complaint. Since at least as early as the filing and/or service of this complaint, Sony's infringement
 25 has been willful.

26 95. Despite Sony's knowledge of and notice of the '466 patent and its ongoing
 27 infringement, Sony continues to manufacture, use, sell, offer for sale, and/or import the Accused
 28 Sony Android TV, Accused Sony PlayStation, and Accused Sony DVD/Blu-Ray products in a

1 manner that infringes the '466 patent, and continues to produce and disseminate promotional and
2 marketing materials, supporting materials, instructions, and/or technical information related to the
3 infringing aspects of Accused Sony Android TV, Accused Sony PlayStation, and Accused Sony
4 DVD/Blu-Ray Products. Sony lacks a justifiable belief that it does not infringe the '466 patent, or 5 that the '466 patent is invalid, and has acted recklessly in its infringing activity, justifying an
6 increase in the damages to be awarded ARRIS up to three times the amount found or assessed, in
7 accordance with 35 U.S.C. § 284.

8 96. At least Sony's willful infringement of the '466 patent renders this an exceptional
9 case, justifying an award to ARRIS of its reasonable attorneys' fees, in accordance with 35 U.S.C. § 10 285.

11 97. ARRIS has no adequate remedy at law for Sony's acts of infringement. As a direct
12 and proximate result of Sony's acts of infringement, ARRIS has suffered and continues to suffer
13 damages and irreparable harm. Unless Sony's acts of infringement are enjoined by this Court,
14 ARRIS will continue to be damaged and irreparably harmed.
